NASHVILLE, TN (November 6, 2013) - The Professional Indoor Football League (PIFL) welcomes the addition of the Nashville Venom making them the eighth and final member for the upcoming 2014 season.

The press conference announcing the team will be held in Room A-31 of the Nashville Municipal Auditorium on Tuesday, November 12, 2013 at 1:30 p.m.

Already with a rich history of being one of the South's premier sports towns, the Venom will serve as the first indoor football team in Nashville since 2007.

With season tickets going on average for as low as $60 around the PIFL, the Venom will continue the league's dedication of providing fan-friendly and affordable entertainment with the Nashville Municipal Auditorium serving as the host venue for all Venom games beginning with their home-opener on April 5th.

"We are excited about the opportunity to host the Professional Indoor Football League's Nashville Venom in 2014," says Nashville Municipal Auditorium General Manager Bob Skoney.

"PIFL is a great addition to the Auditorium's event roster and further expands the sports options available for Nashville and Middle Tennessee sports enthusiasts," continues Skoney. "In preparation for all of our 2014 events, we are refurbishing the mezzanine seating."

Following along with the PIFL's regional footprint, the Venom are set to become regular rivals with the Alabama Hammers (Huntsville, AL) as well as with the Columbus Lions (GA) and Albany Panthers (GA).

All of the PIFL will get their first look at the Venom for their inaugural game on March 22nd against the Albany Panthers.

In the coming week stay tuned to www.proifl.com for the 2014 schedule release.
